How to mark your affiliation with ESOP - Centre for the study of Equality, Social Organization, and Performance.

Mehlum and Moene, 21 November 2013

This note describes how to mark your affiliation with ESOP in working papers, journals and books.

Your affiliation with (acknowledgement to) ESOP should be marked in all publication for which you have directly or indirectly benefitted from ESOP funding or from the research activities at ESOP.

Never write ESOP as part of your address. Use the acknowledgement. Always include: ESOP is supported by the Research Council of Norway through its Centres of Excellence funding scheme, project number 179552. Insert this acknowledgement note already in the first draft. We suggest one of the following formulations:

While carrying out this research, I have been associated with the Centre for the study of Equality, Social Organization, and Performance (ESOP) at the Department of Economics at the University of Oslo. ESOP is supported by the Research Council of Norway through its Centres of Excellence funding scheme, project number 179552.

My work (or ‘This paper’) is part of the research activities at the Centre for the study of Equality, Social Organization, and Performance (ESOP) at the Department of Economics at the University of Oslo. ESOP is supported by the Research Council of Norway through its Centres of Excellence funding scheme, project number 179552.

How to state your address (not acknowledgement) depends on exactly how you are/were affiliated with the centre, see the list below.

(i) Full time employment (permanently or temporarily) at the Department of Economics at the University of Oslo and affiliated with ESOP.

This covers professors, post docs, Ph.D students, but it does not cover adjunct professors or visiting researchers.

Do not write ESOP in your address. When stating your address (after your name or as a footnote to your name), you should rather write ‘University of Oslo’ or ‘Department of Economics, University of Oslo’.

If you in addition have a part time position elsewhere, do not list this other institution as part of your address without clearing this with the Head of Department. The same goes for research networks you may be associated with.
(ii) Part time employment at the Department of Economics at the University of Oslo and affiliated with ESOP.

This includes adjunct professors and visiting researchers.

Do not write ESOP in your address. When stating your address (after your name or as a footnote to your name), you should rather write ‘University of Oslo’ or ‘Department of Economics, University of Oslo’.

If your main employer has regulations making it difficult to add the University of Oslo as one address in addition to your home institution, please contact the Head of Department in order to find a solution.

(iii) a) You were employed part or full time at the ESOP centre when you did all or part of the relevant research. Your position is now elsewhere.

b) You do research that constitutes part of the ESOP research agenda, for which you receive funds. You are not appointed in any position at the Department of Economics.

Do not write ESOP in the address, but use the acknowledgement note as stated above.

The previously employed may write:

While carrying out (part of) this research, I was associated with the Centre for the study of Equality, Social Organization, and Performance (ESOP) at the Department of Economics at the University of Oslo. ESOP is supported by the Research Council of Norway through its Centres of Excellence funding scheme, project number 179552.
