

Closing seminar

Litteraturhuset, Amalie Skram

12.00-16.00:	In depth talks and discussions with the core researchers and Master students. Chair: Principal Investigator Thomas Hylland Eriksen
12.00-12.15:	Introduction by PI Thomas Hylland Eriksen
12.15-12.45:	Thomas Hylland Eriksen interviews four Master students
12.45-12.55:	Short break
12.55-13.35:	Astrid Stensrud: The precarities of climate change, neoliberalism and water politics in Peru Lena Gross: The hard labour of hanging on - resisting wastelanding and colonial masculinity in the oil sands in Canada Maria A. Guzman-Gallegos: Extractive natures, frictions and politics Wim van Daele: Food enmeshing social and physical metabolisms in a locally enacted Overheating world.
13.35-14.05:	Discussion
14.05-14.35:	Coffee break
14.35-15.15:	Elisabeth Schober: From US military hub to FDI paradise? Economic growth, ecological degradation, and social inequalities in Subic Bay (Philippines). Robert Pijpers: Mining and turbulent times: negotiating accelerated change in rural Sierra Leone Cathrine Moe Thorleifsson: Rebordering the nation: the appeal of populism in overheated Europe Henrik Sinding-Larsen: Sustainability and Overheating in an evolutionary perspective
15.15-15.45:	Discussion
15.45-16.00:	Closing remarks by Thomas Hylland Eriksen

Closing conference

Litteraturhuset, Wergeland

19.00-19.15:	Chair: Dr. Cathrine Thorleifsson
19.00-19.15:	Opening remarks – Thomas Hylland Eriksen
19.15-19.45:	1 st key note speaker: Professor Tania M. Li, University of Toronto: After the Teleology of Development: Questions for Empirical Analysis
19.45-20.15:	Commentary by Chris Hann, Max Planck Institute + Q&A from audience.
20.15-20.45:	Mingling break with refreshments
20.45-21.15:	2 nd key note speaker: Professor Jean Comaroff, Harvard University: Feeling the Heat: Crime and the Metaphysics of Global Disorder
21.15-21.45:	Commentary by Professor Chris Hann + Q&A from audience
21.45-22.00:	Panel: Tania Li, Jean Comaroff, Chris Hann and Thomas Hylland Eriksen. Chris Hann gives the closing remark